

A TRIBUTE TO REV. AND MRS. LOYAL T. GRAHAM, JR.
(On the Occasion of their Tenth Anniversary at Central Presbyterian Church)

In Nineteen Twenty-two you came,
Disciples of the best;
Through all the pain, and sorrow by your
Your pathway has been kind!

The friends you've made, the lives you've shared,
Stand witness everywhere;
Sometimes it was a friendly word,—
Often a silent prayer!

The good we do in this old world
No man can judge aright—
The pathway that leads the way,
Small duties out of sight.

But He who leads us in our faith
Cares for all the patient years—
God knows our cares, our smiles are His,
He understands our fears.

Through days of plenty you have worked;
Depression came, but mild,
Unfaltering, your church went on
"Sustained by His will."

Her members, with their friendly lives,
Pay tribute to your soul—
The stranger, opening the door,
Finds Christians that are real.

It's fair that you should know these things
Right now, and not too late;
So often we forget to speak
Of kindness small or great.

We look on all you do with pride,
With gratitude and prayer;
May you be here to lead us on
For many useful days!

It sometimes happens folks are gone,
And then, what we say,
"I wish I had expressed my thanks
Before they went away!"

May these ten years, so swiftly flown,
Be just the first refrain
Of a great period of melody—
A long, re-echoing strain.

Of future hours with blessings filled;
Faithful workers, glad to try
To pass your story message on;
A spiritual team on high!

Among the love of many friends,
Their witness kind and true;
May life shine even brighter still
In Nineteen Forty-two!
